Membership Directory

Published annually, the TSA membership directory provides a listing of association members including detailed information on the products, services and equipment of each member. The directory is a very valuable source to use when looking for subcontractors to help you maximize your work potential.

Member Website Listing

In addition to the printed membership directory, members are listed on the TSA website and be accessed easily at www.txsigns.org.

Scholarship Program

TSA awards The Dewayne Billingsley Memorial Scholarships annually to deserving students pursuing higher education. Members, member company employees and their family members are eligible for scholarships. More information is available on the TSA website at www.txsigns.org.

Sign Design Competition

Members have the opportunity to submit photos of signage for award recognition. First place winners in each category are featured in the membership directory which is distributed annually throughout the industry as a showcase of member design capabilities.

Discounts to Association Meetings/Services

Members receive discounted fees for attendance at all association events and sponsored services.

Legislative Updates

TSA focuses on state and national legislative activity and informs you as news is breaking. Additionally, information is available from the TSA office to help you with local sign zoning and legislation problems.

Lending Library

TSA offers numerous sales and marketing materials, management tools, design resources, safety programs, and legislative resources through the association's lending library which is also available online at no charge.

Informative Newsletters

TSA provides three very valuable newsletters to members at no cost. The ROCKET, bi-monthly newsletter contains industry updates, association information and much more. The bi-monthly newsletter, The Business Owner, provides information to small and mid-size business for management and wealth building. The monthly publication, Safety Meeting Outlines, provides a weekly safety meeting for use in your shop outlining important safety tips, ideas and procedures in compliance with OSHA regulations.

Education

TSA leads the way with educational seminars, workshops and the annual conference on topics ranging from marketing to management; from technical programs to training and safety. The programs are geared to meet the needs of all levels in your organization to maximize your success.

Used Equipment Exchange

Provided bi-monthly in the ROCKET, used equipment for sale or items wanted can be listed at no charge for four months in the Used Equipment Exchange Bulletin.
